meeting held at the Gaylord Opryland Resort.

10th Annual Meeting of the Collaborative Group of the Americas on Inherited Colorectal Cancer

Goal

This program was developed in recognition of the need for clinicians and scientists to keep abreast of current information in hereditary colorectal cancer research – including its implications in the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of patients with colorectal cancer. Increasing emphasis will be on awareness of and participation in development of clinical and translational trials.

Educational Objectives (per Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education guidelines)

After attending the conference, participants should be able to

- review the molecular genetics of inherited colorectal cancer;
- describe clinical features of common inherited colorectal cancer syndromes;
- describe emerging research in hereditary colorectal cancer, including clinical, basic science, and psychosocial issues;
- review chemoprevention treatment options for inherited colorectal cancer;
- identify and resolve difficult case management issues in the treatment of hereditary colorectal cancer;
- discuss the role of genetic counseling and hereditary colorectal cancer registries in providing patient education and promotion of interaction between patients and researchers.

Learning Objectives (per American Board of Genetic Counselors' guidelines)

- Appreciate the ethical, legal, and psychosocial issues unique to hereditary colon cancer risk identification, management, and documentation.
- Increase participants' understanding of new screening, surgical, and research options available to their high risk patients.
- Examine the impact of genetic evaluation, genetic counseling, and genetic testing on clinical care of individuals and families.

Target Audience

This conference will be beneficial to colorectal surgeons, medical oncologists, gastroenterologists, researchers, geneticists, nurses, colorectal cancer registry coordinators, genetic counselors, and psychologists involved in hereditary colorectal cancers.

Educational Methods

Lectures - Question and Answer Sessions - Panel Discussions - Case Presentations - Exhibit Program

Evaluation

A course evaluation form will provide participants with the opportunity to review each session and speaker, to identify future educational needs, and to comment on any perceived commercial bias in the presentations.

Accreditation/Credit Designation

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the Essential Areas and Policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through this joint sponsorship of The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Cancer Center and The Collaborative Group of the Americas on Inherited Colorectal Cancer. The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Cancer Center is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Cancer Center designates this educational activity for a maximum of 11.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

American Board of Genetic Counselors

The event is co-sponsored by the American Counseling Association (ACA). ACA is approved by the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC) to offer up to 13.0 contact clock hours of continuing education credit. ACA adheres to NBCC continuing education guidelines. NBCC approved contact hours will be provided by ACA. ACA offers 10 contact clock hours for every (1) continuing education unit, as approved by the American Board of Genetic Counseling. The credits offered are Category 1 CEUs.

Call for Abstracts

Participants are encouraged to submit abstracts regarding clinical, basic science, and psychosocial aspects of hereditary colorectal cancer. We are interested in abstracts for both established projects with data to share and newly started projects. Our goal is to provide a comprehensive update on the status of clinical research and to stimulate collaborations, recruitment of subjects, and ideas for the development of other studies.

Abstracts will only be accepted electronically and should be submitted to Larry Rusin, MD, CGA-ICC Vice President, at lawrence.c.rusin@lahey.org

The deadline for submission of abstracts is September 8, 2006. Acceptance of abstracts will be acknowledged by e-mail. Authors will be notified by October 6, 2006. All communication will be with the submitting author only.

Limit abstracts to one page, typed in 12 point Times New Roman font, single-spaced with one-inch margins and left justified. Organize the abstract into Background, Methods, Results, and Conclusions. Define all abbreviations and provide three keywords describing the nature and content of the abstract. Please include the name of the conference, title of your presentation, full names of all authors, highest degree, institutional affiliation, and full address at the top of the abstract. Also, please indicate the presenting author by underlining the appropriate name. Abstracts will be selected for poster/oral presentations based on scientific merit and content quality.

Collaborative Group of the Americas on Inherited Colorectal Cancer

In 1995, the Collaborative Group of the Americas on Inherited Colorectal Cancer (CGA-ICC) was established to improve understanding of the basic science of inherited colorectal cancer and the clinical management of affected families. Its broad aims are to enhance the study of inherited colorectal cancer through

- education of physicians, allied health-care professionals, patients and their families;
- linkage to clinical and chemoprevention trials;
- integration of molecular and clinical research at local and national levels;
- resource for registry development and support of polyposis, inherited colorectal cancer, and cancer genetics.

Included among CGA-ICC members are many of the most prestigious international colorectal cancer registries and clinics. Individual members include colorectal surgeons, medical oncologists, gastroenterologists, researchers, geneticists, nurses, colorectal cancer registry coordinators, genetic counselors, and psychologists. Typically, attendance at the annual meeting ranges from 150-200 individuals which serves to promote personal interactions and collaboration among the participants.
